Graduations for July 2020

Green in front of St Luke's Church,
Sydney Street, SW3 6NH

You will have received an email from us regarding this year's graduations. Here is a reminder of the outstanding graduation dates.

Reception Class Thursday 16th July at 9.30am

Year 1 Wednesday 15th July at 9.30am

Year 2 Monday 13th July at 9.30am

Year 5 Tuesday 14th July at 9.30am

Year 6 Friday 17th July at 10.00am

The graduations will be a celebration of the children's learning! Children will receive their end of year certificates and special postcard messages from their teachers. All children need to be accompanied by you and must wear their school uniform, either summer, winter or PE (whatever fits is fine).

Philosophy For Children

Each week in the newsletter we will pose a question that you and your child or your family can discuss.....remember, listen and respect each other's views!

Do you think wild animals should be kept as pets?

Dear Children, Parents and Carers,

It is hard to believe that we are one week away from the summer holidays.

What a year it has been! A new federation for our two schools, lots of news staff, a new governing body and the challenge of trying to support parents with home learning while the school buildings were closed to most children.

We have tried really hard to hold our communities together during difficult times and while families have needed very different kinds of support. As a staff we have been really heartened by the amazing support we have had from the vast majority of parents.

We are sending you a questionnaire to help us review how our first year as a federation has gone. We would be very grateful if you would complete the questionnaire by the end of term.

It has been lovely to see so many families at the outdoor graduations this week. Next week we will have another ten graduations so by then we will all feel ready for the summer holidays and looking to the year ahead in September.

We are expecting to welcome all children back, full time in the new school year with whole class bubbles. We will give you more information as we get it from the Department of Education.

Have a lovely weekend! Best wishes, Mrs Hawkins

Ancient Games: A History of Sports and Gaming (ages 7+)

Author: Iris Volant

Publisher: Flying Eye Books

Did you know that in Ancient Egypt, spectators watched people in rowing boats water jousting on the Nile? Or that the Aztecs had an annual pole-climbing competition, where athletes raced each other up a 15 metre tall pole made from a tree trunk, grabbing prizes as they went?

Ancient Egyptian, Mesoamerican, Ancient Greek and Roman, East Asian and Viking cultures are all explored in this fabulously illustrated book along with specific sports stars from ancient history. For example, The Lady of Yue, who lived in China at approximately 400 BCE, was one of the greatest sword experts of all time, and was appointed by King Goujian to train his soldiers.

As ever with Flying Eye titles, the illustration and lovely book production means that this is a special treasure of a book that kids will adore – it's also a great way to get sports-mad kids into history.

Don't Step on a Bee Day!

Did you know that today, 10th July, is national 'Don't Step on a Bee Day' ?

Not only do our bees help provide us with honey, propolis (a sort of bee glue that has health benefits) and beeswax, they also help to keep us all fed and watered. If it wasn't for bees a third of everything we eat would disappear from our tables. So it is very important we look after our bees!

Click on the 'Kids Country' and the CBBC Newsround logos below to find out more about wonderful bees—including fun facts, recipes, quizzes and much more!

A warm welcome to Miss McGinley

My name is Miss McGinley and I am excited to be the new, Year Two teacher at Holy Trinity from September. I have a languages degree in French and German from the University of Strathclyde. Having worked as a multilingual sales account manager for the past decade, I have a real passion for languages and learning about new cultures. I have also completed my CELTA certificate and taught English as a foreign language in Spain for one year. I love travelling, languages and dancing. I look forward to getting to know you and your hobbies.

Fond Farewell!

We are sad that our school gardener at Holy Trinity Jo is leaving at the end of this year as she is off to do a full time horticultural teacher job. We will be very sad to see her go.

We are very keen to get a new school gardener to help develop our growing areas across both school sites. We can be flexible with timings but would like someone to come in every week in the autumn term and then again from about February each year. Please contact Mrs Hawkins if you are interested in the role.

Celebrations may be a little different to how they used to be, but we can still celebrate in style. What better way to mark a birthday, baby shower, engagement or celebration than with some beautiful décor. Be it a stay at home celebration or a small outdoor gathering, it can still be fabulous! If you have an up coming occasion that you want to make special, please contact Mrs Phillips at the email address below. Deliveries can be made to your door or by collection and 5% of each booking made by CCHT families will go to the school. weheartparty@hotmail.com

This artefact looks like the tusk of an animal but there's also a spoon. I might've been used for collecting crops and you could use the spoon to dig, then the floor men and women might be used it. It might feel heavy. I can tell us that Vikings might've had poor people do their chores. I don't think we have stuff like that anymore so I can't say it's different or the same.
This artefact looks like flint and steel. It might've been used for starting a campfire. I think poor and rich people use it. It might be made with flint and steel. It might feel rough. I can tell us that Vikings lived differently to us. It is similar because it's used to keep us warm. Reasons for the similarities and differences is change.

Ayah - Year 5

Peer pressure means that you sometimes go against your self just so you can try fit in with the people around you. For example it can be when you can be listening in class at your desk and a small group of people start being rude to someone in the class, that person who they are being rude to is your friend, but you know that they will be rude to you if you don't say something or stand up for your friend so when they notice you, you decide to say no that person isn't my friend. But then you might get asked why you're the only one not saying something, then you start being rude, because you feel pressured. As a result, you no longer have that friend anymore; the friend is sad and you are sad because your friend won't talk to you again and you betrayed your own rules to be kind and to others and stand up to bullies.

Students of the week

Blue Group

Our first student of the week award goes to a girl who has really impressed Miss Martin with her hard work and determination since she returned to school. She has been focusing really well during carpet time, doing good listening and putting her hand up to answer questions.

She has been super helpful at time up times and has been encouraging other children to put things away after their play. She has shown motivation and she has been completing her work mostly independently. Her reading has improved and it is so lovely to listen to her read.

Well done and congratulations to Ashleigh!

Red Group

Our second student of the week award goes to a little boy who is always so proud of his achievements. It was such a joy on Wednesday to hear how happy he was when he achieved his writing target. The first thing he said was "wait until I tell my mum!" He is always keen to share how he is feeling and is very caring towards his friends. He is the first person to let a teacher know if he feels that somebody has been unkind and can often be seen comforting anybody who is feeling sad.

He makes Mrs Palmer & Miss Hassan smile on a daily basis due to his wonderful sense of humour and his kindness. He always races to collect the water bottle box and take it outside to save the teachers a job.

Thank you for being such a star!

Huge congratulations go to Yassine

Students of the week

Blue Group

The Special Mention this week goes to a boy who has blown the adults away with his kindness. This little boy is always fair when playing games and he always tries to help his friends. Last week, he calmly and carefully gave instructions to others to help them learn how to draw a dinosaur. In class, he will often go around to others and try to help them with their learning. He will make a fantastic teacher some day!

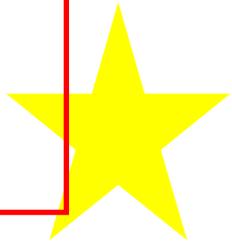

We are so proud of him.
Well done Richard!

Red Group

This boy has really impressed Mr Broughton with his love of reading. His task was to read one book but he really wanted to show what he can do and read two books instead. Mr Broughton is really looking forward to teaching him in September.

Well done Cavalli

Students of the week

The Year 2 student of the week goes to a boy who has really impressed Miss Birmingham every Tuesday since returning to school.

He leaps into the classroom ready to tackle the day's challenges while wearing a big smile! A highlight from this week was this boy's incredible imagination whilst creating a pirate story. He was able to draw a detailed story map which clearly outlined his unique ideas. This boy has also been shining during our Math lessons where he is always willing to share and explain how he found the answers so readily. We are so fortunate to have you in our class. Keep up this amazing love for learning!

Congratulations, Alex.

Students of the week

Year 3

This pupil showed that he is capable of producing great Art work as well as his work in other subjects. Mr Broughton was really impressed with his self-portrait and the attention to detail that he showed.

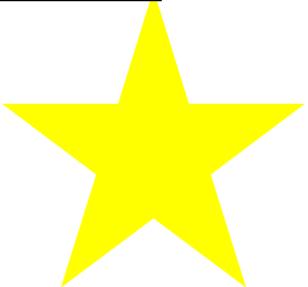

Well done Charlie!

Year 4

The student of the week is a young girl who Miss Harman has really enjoyed seeing back in school. In art, she took her time and was very precise when creating her Australian bird from bits of coloured paper based off the dream-time story 'How the birds got their colours.' She has also been an active participant in our weekly math group on Zoom, always putting up her hand to share her answers and explain her understanding.

Congratulations and well done, Chelsea.

Students of the week

A love of learning is one of the greatest things a person can have, and this student in Year 5 has really demonstrated this during the entirety of lockdown. From maths challenges, to some incredibly detailed portraits to writing stories about her own fantasy world, everything that this girl has done shows that she is enthusiastic and always pushing herself to do her best. Miss Neave knows that she is a Year 6 ready learner. Congratulations and well done, Luna.

Year 5's second special mention goes to a girl, who has done a fantastic job with her learning especially during our One Day of School, where she flew through Geometry and did a fantastic job with her DT. It was wonderful to have her in and showing such enthusiasm and dedication to her learning. Keep it up and Miss Neave knows that you will be all set for the new school year. Congratulations and well done to Tashari.

Students of the week

The first special mention this week goes to a boy, who has grown into a lovely young man this year. He is always thoughtful, kind and caring. In the past few weeks, he has proven to be a skilled tennis player, he looks very professional when playing, we may have a future Wimbledon star on our hands, In the classroom, he always tries his very best and is ready to give anything new a go. Congratulations and a very well done to Andres.

The second special mention this week goes to a girl who has been consistently working hard and trying her very best all through lockdown and home learning. She has an incredible amount of resilience which has definitely aided her home learning, perhaps the next Hermione Granger. Her creativity has shone through with the sheer amount of artwork, cooking and model making appearing on classdojo, some stunning creations. Congratulations and well done to Olivia.

Blue Rainbow Learners

The first special mention in Rainbow Group goes to a boy, who is an excellent independent learner. He always knows when to work and when to play. This is a great trait as he shows enthusiasm in lessons while still bringing a smile to everyone's face. He had Miss Neave in stitches this week, while also doing an amazing job with his Maths and English.

If this boy keeps up his fantastic efforts, he will be more than ready for Year 5 in September.

Congratulations to Issa.

Blue Rainbow Learners

The second special mention in Rainbow Group goes to a boy, who is the perfect example of a responsible and independent learner. He is an example that everyone should follow as he always starts his work immediately and works to the best of his ability. He always takes on any advice and is happy to edit. His can-do attitude and love for life and learning are a delight to have in the classroom.

Keep up the fantastic work, Samuel.

Blue Rainbow Learners

Sometimes it is just impossible to overlook someone, who is having a fantastic week. So, our third special mention goes to a boy, whose work has been brilliant this week.

From Maths to Geography, he has really been applying himself and setting an example of what a good one looks like.

His enthusiasm for writing (which he often declares to be his worst subject) has been noted by all and left

Miss Aina beaming from ear to ear. Keep up the fantastic effort and positive outlook!

Congratulations and well done, Jehzane.

Red Rainbow Learners

The Red Rainbow Student of the week goes to a student who has shown that she will never give up but will keep pushing herself forward in her learning. Miss Birmingham and Mrs Hylton have been very proud with how she has tackled her learning tasks and especially proving in English that she can give her answers in full sentences.

Her maths this week has also shown that she has a good understanding in comparing mass and she always tries to contribute to class discussions and is showing that she is enthusiastic about her learning.

Keep up the good work and well done Tilly!

Red Rainbow Learners

Miss Birmingham and Mrs Hylton have both been very impressed with this student of the week.

This student is always enthusiastic about his learning and never fails to contribute to whole group sessions, always putting his hand up to either give an answer or to give his point of view. The level of work he has produced this year has increased, and his knowledge of maths and his use of vocabulary in his lessons has been very impressive.

He has handled the year 3 curriculum without any fear and proven that he is totally ready for his new class in September.

This student has a real can-do attitude!
Well done Eden!
